

CITIES CANCELLING AND REMOVING FLOCK · SCRIPT A

Cities are giving Flock the boot. Crossville should too

About 1.8 min at ~140 words/min · 249 words · Replace [Your Name]. Speak calmly. One speaker, one focus.

Tip: swap bracketed fields. Cite numbers carefully. End with the cancel / yearly-vote ask.

Mayor Crawford, members of City Council. My name is [Your Name], and I live in Crossville.

This is no longer a fringe debate. Councils keep voting these cameras out.

Dozens of cities and counties have cancelled, suspended, or not renewed Flock. By late July 2026, public reporting had documented about forty-nine of them. Recent votes and fights include Harrisonburg and Staunton, VA; Salem, MA; Fort Collins, CO; Monroe County, IN; Stoughton, WI; South Kingstown, RI; and packed rooms from New Jersey to Georgia demanding the same thing: get these cameras out.

Local newsrooms and national outlets have covered why communities walk away, including privacy fights, CEO messaging, and simple voter anger. Knox County paused a huge expansion after Mayor Jacobs and commissioners pushed back. Crossville does not need to be last.

Other cities have already gotten rid of these cameras. Crossville should follow suit. We should not wait for a scandal here to force the issue. Those towns ended the lease and took the cameras off the streets. We can follow that path before something goes wrong locally.

THE ASK (say this)

My ask is clear. Cancel Crossville's Flock contract and remove the cameras. Require a public hearing and a recorded City Council vote before any surveillance equipment is ever proposed again. If you will not cancel yet, take a recorded yes-or-no vote each year before any renewal, with no automatic renewal that skips a public vote, and publish monthly use reports the public can check. Thank you. I yield.