Voters are done with these cameras

Mayor Crawford, members of City Council. My name is [Your Name], and I live in Crossville.

Please read the room. These cameras are unpopular with the people who elect you.

Across the country, councils that ignored packed chambers are cancelling Flock contracts under pressure. Staunton and Harrisonburg, VA; Salem, MA; Fort Collins, CO; and others show the pattern. In East Tennessee, Knox County's expansion fight is a major news topic right now. Mayor Jacobs, to his great credit, opposed hundreds of cameras. Camera installations were halted, and commissioners demanded policies. Middle Tennessee debates show Lebanon residents asking to cancel while other counties expand. That is not a quiet consensus for more surveillance.

Crossville residents follow those stories. They also follow Oak Ridge misuse and Morristown misread coverage. Continuing Flock without a real public debate tells voters their privacy doesn't matter.

I am asking you to side with the people who elect you, not a company whose objective is to line its own pockets. Across Tennessee and the rest of the nation, voters are speaking out against Flock and other surveillance. The cancellations in other towns and cities are the result of voters making their voices heard, and voters here in Crossville are taking notice. Bring that conversation into this chamber on the record.

THE ASK (say this)

My ask is clear. Cancel Crossville's Flock contract and remove the cameras. Require a public hearing and a recorded City Council vote before any surveillance equipment is ever proposed again. If you will not cancel yet, take a recorded yes-or-no vote each year before any renewal, with no automatic renewal that skips a public vote, and publish monthly use reports the public can check. Thank you. I yield.
