

MONEY VS. LOW HIT RATE · SCRIPT BStop funding mass scanning that rarely pays off

About 2.1 min at ~140 words/min · 296 words · Replace [Your Name]. Speak calmly. One speaker, one focus.

Tip: swap bracketed fields. Cite numbers carefully. End with the cancel / yearly-vote ask.

Mayor Crawford, members of City Council. My name is [Your Name], and I live in Crossville.

Please look past the sales pitch and ask what Crossville actually buys.

Automated plate readers scan ordinary drivers constantly. Independent analyses keep showing the same pattern: huge numbers of innocent scans, only a tiny fraction that match a wanted or stolen-vehicle list, and even fewer that become solved crimes. California Highway Patrol documents cited about 0.3 percent alerts per reads. Spokane, WA, and Atlanta, GA, reporting has likewise undercut claims that more cameras automatically mean more crimes get solved.

Crossville has not published local hit rates. It has not published how many cases these cameras actually helped close. It has not published monthly search reports. We are told the system helps. We are not shown the numbers.

Meanwhile Crossville residents pay for cameras that track where we go. If the results were strong, publishing monthly totals would be easy. The silence suggests they are not.

I am not anti-police. I oppose surveillance that runs on promises instead of proof. Before any more money continues, Crossville PD and city leadership should produce a one-page public dashboard: scans, alerts, confirmed hits, cases closed with ALPR as a necessary tool, and cost per outcome. If that page cannot be produced, the city is spending money without knowing what it buys, while logging where residents drive.

THE ASK (say this)

My ask is clear. Cancel Crossville's Flock contract and remove the cameras. Require a public hearing and a recorded City Council vote before any surveillance equipment is ever proposed again. If you will not cancel yet, take a recorded yes-or-no vote each year before any renewal, with no automatic renewal that skips a public vote, and publish monthly use reports the public can check. Thank you. I yield.

PREPARED FOR CROSSVILLE CITY COUNCIL

Municipal Liability Risk Brief

Flock Safety ALPR in Crossville, Tennessee

A council-facing fiscal and civil-rights risk assessment from Crossville's 2022 Flock quote, Atlas of Surveillance camera counts, and research databases (updated July 21, 2026). Headline misuse/settlement figures are national or statewide catalogs — not Crossville incident counts. Settlement totals mix ALPR and other AI-enforcement vendors; they are cited for liability scale, not as Flock-only payouts.

39 documented ALPR / Flock officer-misuse incidents in the on-site catalog (includes some non-Flock / unconfirmed-Flock ALPR rows — see JSON vendor fields). NATIONAL — NOT CROSSVILLE

$3.68M published wrongful-enforcement settlements in the on-site multi-vendor catalog ($3,679,500 / 12 cases with settlement fields). NATIONAL — NOT CROSSVILLE; NOT ALL FLOCK

2 Tennessee misuse entries in that misuse catalog (Oak Ridge Flock; Shelby Co. ALPR allegation — Flock not confirmed). STATEWIDE TN — NOT CROSSVILLE

11 Crossville PD Flock ALPRs (Atlas, Sept. 2025). CROSSVILLE-SPECIFIC

Bottom line for Council

Crossville taxpayers — not the camera vendor — carry downside risk when an ALPR misread, unchecked search, or network abuse produces an unconstitutional stop, a privacy scandal, or a records fight. TCA § 55-10-302 limits retention; it does not immunize the City from 42 U.S.C. § 1983 claims.

Exposure channels with public precedents (mostly outside Crossville):

- Wrongful high-risk stops from OCR/hotlist errors — e.g. Gilliam v. Aurora $1.9M and Denise Green v. San Francisco $495k (ALPR systems; not Flock-branded cases; cited for liability scale).
- Officer misuse of networked ALPR searches for stalking/personal tracking (catalogued nationally; Tennessee entries include Oak Ridge/Flock and Shelby County ALPR allegation — none are Crossville incidents).
- Records / transparency failures — Everett, WA $25,000 public-records settlement over withheld Flock records (June 2026), not a wrongful-stop payout.
- Fourth Amendment / program-structure litigation risk (Schmidt v. Norfolk amicus wave; Boulder class action).
- Program expansion without a published Crossville policy, audit log, or efficacy report (as of July 21, 2026, this brief has not found a city-published ALPR search policy or official public camera map).

1. What Crossville currently runs

Vendor quote: Q-00234 — 10 Falcons; $25,000 recurring; $3,500 implementation; start 08/26/2022 (non-binding proposal). Atlas of Surveillance: 11 Crossville PD Flock ALPRs as of September 2025. Police Chief / City Manager / Mayor: Jessie Brooks - Valerie Hale - R.J. Crawford.

Gap alert: the 2022 quote describes 10 Falcons; Atlas lists 11 by September 2025 — expansion without a resident-facing explanation of cost, locations, or outcomes. Do not treat $25k/year as proven pricing for 11 cameras without current invoices.

2. The immunity myth — TCA § 55-10-302

A retention limit is a data-handling rule, not a municipal liability shield. If Crossville deploys ALPR and an unconstitutional seizure or related civil-rights injury follows, federal § 1983 exposure attaches to government actors — with settlement dollars funded by taxpayers.
